Louis Pasteur

Louis Pasteur was born in Eastern France in the town of Dole in 1822. At first Louis seemed to do poorly at school and was considered a poor student. However, Louis had a great desire to learn and to increase his knowledge so he pushed himself to do better at school. He finally made it through University where he studied chemistry and received a Master of Science degree in 1845. When he had completed his Master degree he went on to a doctoral degree. He was an outstanding man of Science and certainly deserves recognition and a place in our history books.
